May Revive Canoe Race

A novel plan to establish the Michigan Canoe Championship race under private sponsorship is under consideration. A tentative plan was given the project recently by the Oscoda-AuSable Chamber of Commerce.

Ron Frosh, and Associates want to operate the race as a private enterprise. After approval at Oscoda, it is expected that Frosh and his associates will also call on the Crawford County Chamber of Commerce and explain their program.

However, Frosh has until May 1st, 1962 to either accept or reject the taking over of the race. The proposal would cover five years, if finally accepted. It would give the private concern jurisdiction over the race, its length and starting time and would bring concession rights along the river course under the Frosh direction and control.

In addition, the proposal calls for a $500 annual payment by each community involved. Frosh and Associates would print up advertising pamphlets that the communities could sell to regain the $500.

Bill Frank, Oscoda Chamber president, said he thought the plan would allow "a way of holding the race while eliminating the financial strife, confusion and hundreds of hours of volunteer labor expended in the past."

Wm. Merrill chose a navy blue tuxedo with black accessories. Mrs. Chase wore a turquoise suit dress with rust accessories. A reception for seventy-five was held at the bride's home following the wedding. Blue and white decorations set off the rooms, and the bride's table was set with a wedding cake flanked with white candles.

Eagles Win First, 53-37

The Frederic High Eagles, after dropping their cage opener at Inland Lakes 58 to 39 last Tuesday, won at Bellaire last Friday night by a 53 to 37 count. At Indian River against Inland Lakes, Gordon Armstrong led the Eagles with 17 points and played a good all around game. The rest of the team was off as they hit only 23 per cent from the floor. The Eagles went out to a 12 to 4 lead in the first quarter and ended the period in front 16 to 8. But rebounding against bigger boys soon tired the Frederic team and they began making mistakes. Midkiff added 8 points, Redman and Harmer 6 each and Wilson 2.

At Bellaire, the Eagles led 29 to 18 at halftime but Bellaire tossed the score slightly. Then early in the fourth quarter Harmer and Armstrong hit back to back field goals to add to a Frederic surge. Coach Murel Fisk then sent reserves into the game and Bellaire caught up somewhat. Redman scored 18 points with Armstrong again hitting 17. Wilson, Midkiff and Harmer each added 6. Armstrong again turned in a good game with strong defense and 5 out of 6 free throws and 6 out of 10 field goal tries. Redman bounced back from a poor performance at Inland Lakes with 7 out of 15 field goal chances. Wilson also turned in a fine floor game.

Ed Weaver and Jim Blauw with 6 each led the Frederic reserves in a 31 to 21 loss at Inland Lakes. They again were dropped at Bellaire by a 20 to 20 count. Phil Lodge with 8 points was high and Terry Latt turned in a fine game at rebounding and from the floor. In other conference action Friday, Central Lake topped Albia 44 to 20. Rapid City stopped Ellsworth 53 to 33.

Last Wednesday at Frederic, the junior high team lost to Bellaire 24 to 23. They led at halftime 14 to 9 but threw the ball away too many times in the second half. The Frederic team turned in a 21 to 16 victory. They were ahead 9 to 8 at halftime and the Frederic defense held the Bellaire girls scoreless in the third quarter. The Frederic girls added 5 points to their lead. Frederic outscored the visitors 8 to 7 in the final stanza to win. Gwenna Welch with 12 points was high with Mary Lodge adding 5 and Gwen Lodge 4.

This week, the girls team and junior high travel to Central Lake on Wednesday with games with their counterparts. On Friday night, the Frederic varsity and junior varsity entertain the high flying Central Lake Trojans.

Seek To Aid Beeline

Railroad passenger service in northeastern Michigan is getting a rejuvenated boost these days from a small dedicated group of "commuter salesmen" who refuse to accept the railroad's decision to eliminate the service.

The "Beeline" run of the New York Central Railroad is fighting for its life as a result of the railroad's petition to the Michigan Public Service Commission to eliminate daily passenger service between Bay City and Mackinaw City. "It is not paying its way," is the statement of New York Central spokesmen.

The several communities which the Beeline serves agree that the service is unprofitable and have pointed out that the reason this is so is because the railroad, several years ago, refused to promote and generate passenger service in a manner similar to other U. S. railroads. Citizens in Cheboygan, Gaylord, Indian River, Grayling and Central are working to keep the Beeline alive.

To Honor Citizens, Others

GRAYLING APPRECIATION DAY TO MARK FIVE EVENTS TODAY

Grayling will be the scene tonight (Thursday) of a civic celebration honoring both her pioneers and her newest citizens and some folks who don't even live here.

Signifying the community's rebirth as a commercial and industrial center of the North, the celebration will be called "Appreciation Day."

At the same time and at the same celebration, the city's role as a sports and outdoor lover's headquarters will be marked. There will be acknowledgment of some of the Michigan people, industries and businesses which have helped Grayling prosper over the years at a banquet that night.

Bob Schulze, president of the Crawford County Chamber of Commerce, says Thursday will involve a community-wide bow to the past and a look to the future. The celebration will mark a number of new events, namely:

Expansion of the Bear Archery Co., world's largest manufacturer of bow and arrow hunting gear.

Opening of new highway links with Southern Michigan and the Straits, including many new miles of four-lane freeway along I-75 and US-27.

Expansion and refurbishment of the Chief Shoppenagons Motor Hotel, which was the scene 45 years ago of the first Grayling Appreciation Day.

Addition of the Grayling Reel Company to the city's list of industries.

Connection of the city to the state-wide electric system of Consumers Power Company, which went into effect December 1st, and numerous other events which indicate to the Grayling folks that the city is on the sill of a bright future.

Not to forget the past, "appreciation" will go to those who, the town feels, have done more than their share to keep Grayling on the map. Not just Graylingites but people from other towns too.

The banquet will be at the recently refurbished and enlarged Chief Shoppenagons whose owner, Roy DeWitt, will be host to the whole affair. Some 120 people will be there.

Mr. Schulze says, "You could call it a Civic Thanksgiving, but then we're looking forward, too. We just want to honor some of the people who have made Grayling a wonderful town all these years and who are anxious to see it continue to be one in the years ahead, whether they live here or just visit."

Having a part in the banquet program besides Schulze, who will introduce dignitaries, will be Robert Dominic, Indian tribal chief, now of Petoskey, who will describe the old Chief Shoppenagons, legendary guest on the AuSable for whom the hotel was named. Grayling's streets will also carry the Appreciation Day theme. Industry displays will be exhibited in downtown shop windows and banners will be flown.

Thursday's Appreciation Day is patterned somewhat along the same lines as the 1916 program.

Required Reading For Women

A campaign cytology program urging women to have a cell examination for the detection of uterine cancer is to be launched here in January. The promotion will be jointly sponsored by the Crawford and Roscommon County Cancer Societies.

In announcing the drive Mrs. B. E. Henig of Grayling and Mrs. Frank Bush of Roscommon described the development of cell examination for uterine cancer as one of the most important scientific advances ever made in the fight to control this dread disease.

It was pointed out that the test makes it possible to detect uterine cancer before symptoms appear. The means cancer detection at a time when the tumor is microscopic and confined to its site of origin. It should be stressed that the test is absolutely painless.

Cancer authorities emphasize that virtually all cases of uterine cancer can be cured if the disease is treated while still localized and can eliminate the second leading cause of cancer deaths among women.

Further information on this program will be printed in this paper as plans progress.

Robert Tapley was in St. Paul, Minn., the forepart of the week, on business for the Bear Archery Company.

The Bill Joseph and son Ricky were in and out last Thursday.

RADKA REPORTS ON CON-CON

Thanksgiving week was a short week with sessions Monday night, Tuesday and at 10:00 Wednesday morning.

The most interesting development in the Wednesday session was the statement made by Delegate Herman Dehnke, retired Circuit Judge from Harrisville. Delegate Dehnke is Vice Chairman of the important legislative organization committee which is dealing with the reapportionment problem. He spoke for the majority of the committee, and pointed out the inaccurate and misleading reporting by Detroit Free Press of the legislative organization committee's consideration of holding its annual sessions in Detroit. Delegate Dehnke clearly explained, without rancor, that the Detroit Free Press was not fulfilling its responsibility to its readers by inaccurately reporting and disproportional reporting of committee members viewpoints.

The members of both political parties have enough trouble trying to keep politics out of convention proceedings and the press doesn't help when they inaccurately report activities inferring delegates disagree only because they belong to different political parties. Generally the press has done a good job but I agree that they must be openly criticized for a bad job.

President Nesbit reported that the daily paper bill for convention business is $700.

Many delegates complain that they can't find time to read all the material that is given to them. Michigan State University, in response to delegates' interest, is planning a special course in delegates in Rapid and Efficient Reading.

ing. I sometimes wonder if our problem is slow reading. I think a course in how to talk faster and use less words would be more helpful in expediting the work of the convention. The recent Attorney General's opinion that held the work of the convention should be finished by 1 April 1962 or the new Constitution cannot be presented to the voters until 1963, should increase the tempo of the convention work.

OUR GANG

The November 16th meeting of Our Gang was held at Ollie Love-ly's, with thirteen members present. The Christmas party was planned for December 14th, at 6 o'clock at the Legion Hall. Members are to bring their own table service and a dollar gift to exchange.

Con-Con Looks At Sec. 22 . . .

The Constitutional Convention's committee on taxation has recently been holding hearings on tax monies which are earmarked. Among the earmarked funds is taxes under Section 22 of Article X of the present Constitution.

In our opinion, the Section should stand as it is. It simply guarantees that gasoline and motor plates taxes paid by motorists must be used solely for highways, roads and streets.

The amendment to the Constitution was adopted on November 6, 1938, and has worked very adequately since that time. In simple language the Section says those who use the highways, roads and streets pay for them. If you own no car, you pay absolutely nothing to maintain highways which is the way it should be. If you own several cars and they are driven a great deal, you pay your share for building and maintaining the highways, streets and roads in the state.

Earmarking of motorist taxes solely for road improvement directly is responsible for Michigan's national leadership in highway development. Our growing expressway system could not have been started if taxes paid by motorists were diverted to other purposes.

In 1938 the Good Roads Amendment had almost unanimous support of business and civic organizations. Most newspapers endorsed earmarking of road funds editorially. The same support is evident 23 years later. The Michigan Good Roads Federation is strongly urging re-adoption of the anti-diversion amendment principle in a new Constitution. This position is supported by highway user organizations and by the road industry. Several newspapers already have spoken out in favor of earmarked motorist taxes.

A three-year study of Michigan's highway needs shows $11 billion will be needed between 1960 and 1980 to provide roads and streets adequate for growing traffic demands. If highway revenues are diverted to other purposes, Michigan's road improvement program would be gravely jeopardized.

Michigan's Constitutional guarantee reserving motorist taxes for road purposes was adopted in 1938 because of successive attempts to tap these funds for non-highway uses. If this protection for motorists is not retained in a new Constitution a new wave of demands to tax motorists for general governmental costs would certainly follow. R. W. S.

Grayling High School opened the basketball season last Friday night by defeating the Alpena Thunderbolts on the Alpena floor in a hard-fought overtime game. The score was 18 to 20. Coach Willard Cornell's Green and White basket-shooters showed the way throughout the game, but had to go into an extra period to win. Tuesday night, Grayling defeated Boyne City in two overtime periods, 21 to 19. Moshier's side-court shot, near the close of the second overtime, made the Northern Lights' first conference victory possible. The game was closely contested throughout with Grayling holding a slight edge until the final moments. Deckow, Moshier and Smock led the offensive drive, while Lovely and Petersen featured on defense. Hull, Kraus, Tibbetts and McClain played a major part with splendid performances in the pinch. The Grayling reserves lost to a fast Boyne City team 49 to 12.

Mrs. Hendrickson teaches music, both voice and instrumental, and art to an exceptionally large class, and her recital was given at the Chicago Musical club. Mrs. Hendrickson attended school in Grayling when her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Darius Countryman lived here. learn that she is doing so well.

South of T-Town recently, has been closed.
Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Corwin, Mrs. George Biggs and Mrs. Celia Granger visited Mrs. John Corwin of Roscommon Sunday.
Aage Christanson of Detroit arrived Sunday and expects to make his home here again.
Early Saturday afternoon while Frank Peck, deliveryman for DeWaele & Sons grocery was getting into the wagon, the horses became frightened and ran away. Glen Penard of West Branch is the new barber at the Walter Cowell shop.
Victor Sailing reports that his new brick store buildings will be ready for occupancy sometime this week. One will be occupied by John Hodge and Clyde King as a cafe.
Fire did some damage to the home of Jens Peter Jensen located north of T-Town last week, burning a hole in the roof.
Word has been received from North Yakima, Wash., of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Grommesch on Wednesday, December 1. Mrs. Grommesch was formerly Miss Catherine McPeak of this city.
C. P. Michelson returned to his home in Mason Wednesday.

Between The Bookends

"INSIDE EUROPE TODAY"
Among the new non-fiction books in the library is John Gunther's "Inside Europe Today". This is not in any way a revision of his original "Inside Europe" but a brand new work, twenty-five years later, which discusses the problems, tensions and personalities that distinguish the post-war Europe of today.
One of the interesting features in the book is the character sketches of the powerful political personalities who determine the course of their countries. Chancellor Adenauer, his foes and friends who have been so recently in the news with the German elections, is analyzed at length.
DeGaulle, MacMillan and Khrushchev are of course also included, as well as a number of personalities new to most of us. He touches on the belt of communist satellites standing behind the iron curtain, discusses defense and nuclear disarmament and explains the evolution and functioning of the European economic community, the "Inner Six", as well as the European Free Trade Association.

One of Mr. Gunther's conclusions is the heartening theory that the next striking of oil differences between the Europe of 1936 and that of 1961 is that a general war in the near future is unlikely. In the very much diminished world of aeroplanes and rockets, the understanding of our neighbors is not only interesting and worthwhile but very nearly imperative.

Winter Starting Problems
Some morning soon we're going to get a rash of calls in our service department from motorists who can't get their cars started because of an overcast night cold snap.
F. C. Welsh night cold snap experience that nine out of ten of these calls would be unnecessary if these motorists had taken a few simple steps to prepare their cars for Winter.
Drivers have trouble starting their cars at low temperatures because of two basic reasons: their battery power is down and the engine that battery has to turn is much harder to move.
Zero temperature, for instance, reduces battery output 60 per cent from peak efficiency. There is little that can be done about this aside from keeping the battery fully charged and, if possible, warm. Engine inertia from cold-stiffened oil requires 2 1/2 times the amount of electrical energy for starting that it would at 80 degrees. The remedy here is light-weight Winter oil to cut down the drag as much as possible.
A properly tuned-up engine, clean, efficiently capped plugs, new points, hardened battery terminals and a clean carburetor will make maximum use of reduced Winter battery power. Coupled with a fully-charged battery and light-weight oil, the combined cost of winterizing your car will seem small compared with a few towing charges.
Bring your car in for a check-up. Our mechanics will perform only the work that is necessary at minimum cost to you.
